

Laposto

@laposto.art

Born in 1995 in Braila Romania LaPosto lives and works in Brussels since 2018. A traveller, not reckless and with a degree in tourism her attraction for travel is translated on canvas by a play of traces and lines that run from edge to edge of a flat space.

In large or small format, to encounter the universe of LaPosto is to travel through a journey of colours and emotions - sometimes vibrant sometimes pastel.

This self-taught artist explores a variety of materials: acrylic paste, oil, sculpture, aerosol and drip solutions. She develops her technique around the figurative and the abstract. Her works evoke memories and emotions linked to autobiographical events. Like the paintings of expressionist artists, the canvases created by this artist express a personal language. These canvases present various contrasts: the dark and the dreamlike, the angular and the undulatory, the duality of the human and the duality of human gender, introspection and exaltation.

Sometimes pushing the figures that inspire her to the point of grotesqueness, LaPosto paints the faces of an ironic world that sometimes recalls scenes by James Ensor.
