

Salem

Salem KISITA, born on 20 June 1996 in Kinshasa, in the Democratic Republic of Congo, is now a painter, actor and photo model, and is pursuing a master's degree in communications at the IHECS.

His art is a blend of cultures. He loves diversity, and the way it enriches our vision of the world. It is from this richness that he draws his inspiration, between Congolese and Belgian traditions, while adding a personal touch. He seeks to get to the heart of the matter, letting shapes and colours speak for themselves, without superfluity. An obsession with simplicity guides his creations, where each work is an invitation to feel without the need for explanation.

Solitude is an important source of inspiration in her work. It allows her to reconnect with her deepest thoughts and give a clear direction to her work. But moments of sharing and exchange are also essential. They nourish her artistic vision and help her to see things in a new light.

He had the opportunity to live in the United States for several years, where he was able to combine football with his studies. This experience gave him a new perspective on the world and has had a profound influence on his artistic work. As an actor and photo model, these roles help him to see things differently, to explore other facets of human expression and to meet new people and cultures. Since 2022, he has been sharing his work through exhibitions. Although he began by drawing mangas and portraits, he then gradually turned to abstract art, which offers him total freedom and a more instinctive way of expressing himself. However, he knows that one day he will return to portraits.

They occupy a special place in his career, and he feels the urge to explore once again this unique connection with human beings and their expressions.
